In this notebook, i will classify small images cifar10 dataset from tensorflow keras datasets. There are total 10 classes as shown below. I will use ANN and CNN for classification to determine the classifier that get the higher level of accuracy. I used codelab as my machine using python programming language